6. Qian is called the "Father of China's Space Program".
7. He worked hard to develop China's rockets and satellites.
8. His research helped China launch its first satellite in 1970.

四、A. One possible version 1:

Qian Xuesen was a Chinese space scientist. He was born in Hangzhou, Zhejiang Province.

Qian is called the "Father of China's Space Program". He came back to China in 1955 and worked hard to develop China's rockets and satellites. He faced many difficult times, but he never gave up. His research helped China launch its first satellite in 1970. He also helped China build stronger technology for national safety.

In 1999, he received China's highest award for scientists. His work made China stronger in space and defense.

One possible version 2:

Tu Youyou is a Chinese medicine scientist. She was born in Ningbo, Zhejiang Province.

Tu studied traditional Chinese medicine for many years. In the 1970s, she found a special medicine called Artemisinin to treat malaria. This medicine saved millions of lives, especially in poor countries. Today, it is used in over 80 places around the world.

In 2015, she won the Nobel Prize in Medicine. She is the first Chinese woman to get this prize. People call her the "Hero against Malaria".

Dear Mr White,

I am Li Hui from Class 3. Our school will hold an English speech competition called "The person I admire" next Friday at 2:00 p. m. in the school hall. We warmly invite you to be one of the judges!

Here is the plan. First 15 students will give speeches about people they admire, like family members, teachers, or great minds. Each speech will last 3 minutes. Then, the judges will give them scores by checking three things: clear ideas, correct English, and confidence. At last, the judges will give advice to help students improve. The whole event will end at 3:30 p. m.

Your help is very important to us. We really hope to see you there!

Best wishes,

Li Hui

Dear Tom,

How is everything going? I hear that you want to study why dinosaurs died out. I advise you to use an encyclopaedia to find facts. Here are some tips about how to use it to help you.

First, you need to pick a helpful and well-known encyclopaedia. I recommend the Encyclopaedia Britannica online because it is detailed and easy to use. It lists topics in alphabetical order. Then you can choose the "Prehistoric Animals" part about dinosaurs. Next, look for keywords like asteroid or fossils in the text. These words will lead you to useful information about how dinosaurs died out.

I hope the advice can be helpful to you. I'm sure you'll find amazing information. Let me know if you need more help!

四、A. One possible version:

Students' after-school activities

The survey shows how students spend their free time. 55% of them use electronic products, 25% do sports, and only 20% spend time studying.

Electronic products are the most popular, probably because they are fun and convenient. Sports come next, as they help students stay healthy. Studying is the least common activity, possibly because it feels less enjoyable.

I suggest students reduce screen time to protect their eyes. They should do more sports to stay active. Also, setting at least 30 minutes daily for study can improve their grades.

B. One possible version:

Numbers in daily life

Numbers are everywhere around us. They are widely used nowadays and they play an important role in our life. If there are no numbers, our life may be a mess.

Numbers are very simple, but they are really useful. When we want to call someone, we can dial his phone numbers. When we take the bus to somewhere, we can choose the correct number of the bus. Even in the school, there are too many students in our class, so we can use the student numbers to help us know someone.

Above all, numbers have linked very closely with our daily life. They bring convenience to us.

Dear Mike,

I'm sorry to hear that you're having trouble with maths. Don't worry—many students find it hard at first. With practice and the right methods, you can improve!

To learn maths well, here are some helpful tips. First, review the basics carefully, because maths builds on earlier knowledge. Second, do maths exercises every day, even just a few problems. This helps you understand better. Third, ask your teacher or classmates when you have questions. Don't be shy! Finally, try to connect maths to real life, like calculating prices when shopping. It makes learning more fun and useful.

I believe you can do better if you keep trying. Maths takes time, so don't give up! Best wishes for your progress.

Yours,

Li Hui

四、A. One possible version:

Dear Eric,

How are you? I'm writing to share some thoughts about Internet use. I know the Internet helps us a lot. For example, we can study through online videos and chat with friends easily. It's very convenient!

However, spending too much time online might cause problems. Last month, I felt dizzy and couldn't focus in class because I stayed up late gaming. Also, my maths scores dropped. Maybe you've had similar experiences?

Here's my advice: Let's make a daily plan together! We can set a timer for 1 hour of study online and 30 minutes for fun. After that, let's play basketball or read books. This way, we stay healthy and keep our grades up.

Hope this helps! Let's try it and talk more tomorrow.

Yours;

Li Hui

B. One possible version:

Technology and learning

With the development of society, technology plays an important role in our lives.

First, technology offers us many learning resources. For example, we can watch free video lessons online or download e-books for homework. Second, smart tools make studying easier. Apps can help us learn English words quickly, and AI can explain maths problems step by step.

However, there are challenges. Last week, I wasted an hour playing the phone instead of studying! Also, depending too much on devices might make us forget how to think independently. To solve this, I now use a timer to focus and take breaks to read books. Technology is helpful, but we must use it wisely!

Thank you for your listening.

My invention—a smart umbrella

My invention is a smart umbrella. It looks like a common umbrella. It's small and convenient to carry.

However, we can use it to do many things. First, there is a camera at the top so that we can use the umbrella to take photos. Second, it has a tiny phone which makes it possible to communicate with others. What's more, it can also play some music for us to relax ourselves. The most amazing thing is that we can use our voice to control the umbrella.

I think my invention is not only useful but also convenient. It will help people live a better life.

B. One possible version:

The greatest invention

There are many inventions in history. However, I think the smartphone is the greatest invention because it makes our lives more convenient.

We use the phone almost every day. First, people use them to communicate with their friends and families, even with those who are far away. Second, sometimes we need to find out some information and a smartphone will help. What's more, we can use it to take some photos, listen to music as well as watch some videos for relaxation.

In a word, I think the smartphone really brings us a lot of happiness and convenience. It is really a great invention.

The invention of cars

Car is one of the most important inventions in human history. It has brought much convenience to people's lives. By using cars, we can travel from one place to another in a shorter time. Cars not only make travelling more comfortable but also give us chances to visit our friends or families more often.

Though cars give us much convenience in our daily lives, they also bring many problems, such as traffic jams and traffic accidents.

So in our daily lives, we should drive slowly and carefully to avoid accidents. We should also drive less and travel green. Let's work together to enjoy the convenience cars bring to us and reduce the bad effects cars bring to the environment.

Dear Mr and Mrs Li,

I hope both of you are well. I'm writing to you to express my gratitude. You made me feel at home and helped me learn so much about Chinese culture.

The most unforgettable thing was the day we cooked dumplings together. I still remember how you taught me to fold the wrappers properly. Also, visiting the Summer Palace with you was magical. I'll never forget the beautiful lake and the stories you shared.

My trip to China was the best experience of my life. Thanks to you, I fell in love with Beijing's history, food, and friendly people. This journey made me grow braver and more curious about the world.

Thank you again for your kindness. I hope we can meet again someday!

Yours,

Eric

B. One possible version:

Dear Li Hui,

How are you? I'm so excited that you're coming to London next month! I hope you're ready for an amazing experience.

The education exchange here has lots of fun activities. You'll visit famous universities like UCL, join school clubs with British students, and even try a traditional English afternoon tea! We'll also explore the British Museum and the London Eye, you'll love them! There are fun workshops too like learning British history through games! On weekends, I'll take you to see Big Ben and take a boat ride on the Thames River!

I can't wait to see you! Let me know if you need help with anything. I'll show you around the city and we can try fish and chips together!

Yours,
Eric

Good morning, everyone!
I'm Li Hui, and today I want to talk about educational exchange because it helps me make friends from different cultures.
First, it greatly improves my English skills. By communicating with foreign teachers and classmates, I become more confident in speaking and writing. In addition, the experience teaches me to solve problems independently. Also, sharing stories about our traditions and daily lives in English makes me feel closer to the world. Educational exchange doesn't just broaden knowledge but also opens hearts.
So, let's take action! Don't miss the chance to grow, learn and connect. Together, we can build a brighter future!
Thank you!

四、A. One possible version:

Good morning, everyone! I'm Li Hui.

I love reading stories about great heroes. My favourite is about Yue Fei. He was a brave soldier who fought for his country. His story teaches me to be strong and never give up.

Reading historical stories is really great. It helps us learn about the past and understand how people lived.

We can also learn important lessons, like bravery and wisdom, from these stories.

I hope everyone will read more historical stories. They are fun and can teach us a lot. Let's learn from the past and make our future better!

Thank you!

B. One possible version :

Last summer, my family and I went camping in the mountains. It was a beautiful day, and we were all excited to explore. However, we faced a problem. We realized we had forgotten the matches needed to start a fire for cooking.

My father, known for his cleverness, came up with a clever idea. He used a piece of glass from his sunglasses to focus the sunlight and light some dry leaves. This started a small fire. Then we cooked our dinner.

This experience taught me the value of thinking creatively. I felt proud of my father and learned that even in challenging situations, a bit of wisdom can lead to success.

My tip on how to remember things

Activating our five senses is a powerful way to remember things. This method means using our eyes, ears, hands, nose, and mouth together while learning.

For example, to memorize the word "flower", I look at a colourful picture of a rose, listen to its pronunciation, touch its soft petals in my mind, imagine its sweet smell, and even think about tasting rose tea. When we use five senses, our brain stores the information in different areas, making it easier to recall later.

Let's make learning lively! Use colourful pens, play audio notes, or hold objects while studying. By activating our senses, we can turn boring facts into unforgettable experiences.

B. One possible version:

I think memory is really important. If students have a good memory, we can study better and use time wisely. Here is some advice on how to improve it.

First, before remembering something, you'd better spend some time understanding the material fully. Second, a balanced diet can give your brain enough energy. Don't forget to eat food like vegetables, meat, fruit and milk. Finally, get enough sleep to make sure you have a fresh head the next day. Doing exercise can keep your mind clear and active.

I hope my advice will help you. Let's try the advice above!

There is always something unforgettable in my life, especially the story between my friend and me. One thing happened in the past left a deep impression on me.

On a rainy day, I suddenly fell down from my bike and hurt myself badly. So I had to stay in hospital. But I worried about my study. Then my friend Mingming came to see me and helped me with my schoolwork. I didn't fall behind the other students with his help.

This is unforgettable because it shows the power of friendship. No matter what happens, true friends will always be friends.

Different people like different pets. In my opinion, dogs make the perfect pets. They are faithful, friendly and full of love.
There are many reasons why dogs are wonderful. First, they protect our homes. My neighbour's dog once barked to warn us about a stranger. Second, they keep us active. Every afternoon, I walk my dog and get exercise too. Most importantly, dogs never let you feel lonely. When I'm sad, my dog licks my hand to cheer me up.
I hope people can take good care of their pets and give them loving homes. Let's have a happy life with these perfect pets!

Dear Mary,
I am so happy that you have your own dog. I am writing to share some tips on how to take good care of dogs to help you.
First, provide a balanced diet. Feed your dog high-quality food and fresh water daily. You'd better not give it human food, especially chocolate or onions, which are harmful. Second, take it for regular walks and play with it to keep it healthy and happy. Finally, train your dog and give it lots of love and patience.

I believe you'll be a great pet owner! I am looking forward to hearing about your fun moments with your dog.

Yours,
Li Hui

Should students keep pets?

Nowadays, many families keep pets. I think students should keep pets. Here are my reasons.

To begin with, keeping pets helps students develop responsibility because we need to feed and clean our pets every day. What's more, pets also help reduce stress. For example, playing with a dog after school can make us feel relaxed. Finally, students can learn patience from keeping pets. When we train our puppies to sit, we must wait calmly.

In a word, I think it is a good idea to keep pets. But we should balance the time we spend in playing with pets and doing our schoolwork so that we can live a happy life together.
